

Scenario: You are a single parent trying to work two jobs but also provide healthy and homecooked meals to your two kids. You are running on tight financial and time budget with only limited cooking skills. You would like to try our app to find recipes that are easy, cheap, and healthy.

Task 1: Find a meal for dinner that uses chicken as the main protein. Save this meal to your favorites

Task 2: You just went shopping so add chicken, milk, and eggs to your kitchen pantry section. Make sure they added by looking at your kitchen and then go back to the main menu.

Task 3: Go checkout the recommended tips section and see what is recommended for shopping cheap. Save a tip to your favorites.

Three things to change:

- Have different section in favorites for recipes and tips that way users can easily access their desired tip/recipe
- Be able to add multiple items to you kitchen at one time so you don't have to individually have to add your whole shopping list
- Be able to sort meals by more than one factor i.e. search by meal type and protein source at the same time

Three things to keep:

- Keep home button on all of the screens so that users can always get home.
- Keep the different sections of the main menu so that all the features are individually accessible
- Keep the my kitchen section so users can see what is in their kitchen even when they weren't home or they were at the grocery store.
